

Elizabeth Mangelsdorf, The Arizona Daily Star

Flight school — Chris O'Hearn, 17, takes the controls while pilot Hugh Black watches, left. Yesterday's flight was the final class for about 100 students in the "Wright Flight" program, which was taught at various schools by volunteer Air Force personnel. The Wright Flight Inc., is a non-profit corporation designed to give students an early exposure to aviation.